

Making a difference when it matters most

that's the Assiniboine Effect

Bruce Palmer
Practical Nursing Instructor

Manitobans all over the province rely on the skills and compassion of Assiniboine-trained nurses. Bruce is part of The Assiniboine Effect—a quiet phenomenon that's having a big impact on the growth of Manitoba.

Watch Bruce's film at AssiniboineEffect.ca

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 30, 2017

FOUNDED IN 1872 Winnipeg Free Press

CONNECT WITH CANADA'S HIGHEST READERSHIP RATE

WEATHER: SNOW. HIGH 1 — LOW -2

NYGÅRD SUPPORTS BREAST CANCER RESEARCH

Peter Nygård (centre) poses with cancer survivor models from left: Kelly Boles, Barb Linklater, Liane Davidson, Gladys Skjaerlund, Pam Brown, Lesley Katz, Lora Dobson, Nancy Olson, Colette Garlinski and Maureen Arbik at the fashion show.

Nygård Fashion

The Nygård fashion show in support of breast cancer research was held on Sept. 15 to preview the company's new fall fashions at the Nygård Fashion Park store on Kenaston Boulevard. More than 450 people attended the show, which featured models who have survived cancer. All ticket proceeds will be donated to Cancer Care Manitoba.

Cancer survivor model Kelly Boles struts her stuff in the Animal Print Cold Shoulder Tee by Tan Jay

Cancer survivor model Lora Dobson looks great in Tan Jay's Lace-Up Faux Suede Jacket

Cancer survivor model Lesley Katz shows off the Tan Jay Leopard Print Vest

From left: Kerri Chase, Patti Smith (CancerCare Manitoba Foundation chief development officer), Pam McLeod (CancerCare Manitoba Foundation executive assistant) and Alyson Moffat (Winnipeg Blue Bombers corporate sales) attend the Nygård fashion show.

Cancer survivor model Pam Brown is stunning in the Longline Stitch Trim Vest by Tan Jay